ACE Agreements 2009

(Paperbound)

ACE Agreements are industry-standard documents for the appointment of consultancy and engineering professionals. The original principles of the ACE Agreements are maintained but the documents have been updated and simplified. This means more user-friendly Agreements, offering greater versatility for both clients and consultants.

New features

- Both client and consultant can tailor-make the services to match the requirements of a project
- The Memorandum has been made self-explanatory and is easier to complete
- Agreements can accommodate any size of consultancy commission
- Agreements are now multi-functional and able to accommodate the presence of a project manager and/or a lead consultant in the team
- Both client and consultant are able to introduce personnel with delegated powers to run a project whilst at the same time leaving overall responsibility at senior managerial level

Updated features

- A default limit of liability of ten times the fee has been introduced
- The client's brief has been introduced into the Agreements
- A programme for undertaking the services has been introduced
- The schedule of fees has been expanded and clarified to accommodate:
 - Time charges
 - Lump sums
 - Percentage fees
 - Fees for additional work
- Fees for arranging work to be undertaken by others
- Payment of expenses
- Payment for collateral warranties

Easy to use

All ACE Agreements and Services are sold individually to make the documents easy to use. The separate Services documents mean that both client and consultant can tailor-make the services to match the requirements of a project, offering even more flexibility and versatility when using ACE Agreements.
